

Adult Resource Links

Here are some links to review the discussion content from the Catalyst adult conference:

Two videos on why there are so few women in some sciences:

<http://www.aauw.org/research/why-so-few/>

http://www.pbs.org/newshour/bb/science-jan-june12-womenscience_04-26/

A radio show, also with general background information:

<http://www.npr.org/2013/08/16/212613885/the-stem-gender-gap>

An article about insecurity and how to build confidence:

<https://medium.com/the-year-of-the-looking-glass/the-imposter-syndrome-9e23e2326d88>

An article about how negative stereotypes can be self-fulfilling:

<http://theglasshammer.com/2011/06/01/why-stereotype-threat-keeps-girls-out-of-math-and-science-and-what-to-do-about-it/>

And an implicit bias test that you can take yourself:

<https://implicit.harvard.edu/implicit/Study?tid=-1>

A video with suggestions about what to do:

<https://www.teachingchannel.org/videos/stem-gender-gap-ced>