verse:

There's meetings and marches, there's letters to write There's gentrification and bosses to fight
In 24 hours I need 42
Why am I wasting time crying for you?

chorus:

Heartbreak is counterrevolutionary, baby
I'll bet you're really a tool of the right Trying to distract me from fighting for justice
And, okay, it worked, but now I see the light

verse:

Habeus corpus, now that's worth crying for Corporate media, yeah, I'd shed a tear
When I think about global warming and flooding
I realize our love didn't matter much, dear bridge:

And I have got more than my share of the wealth
It's really problematic to feel sorry for myself

chorus:

Oh, heartbreak is counterrevolutionary, baby
That's one mistake that I won't make again
My new heart was made by union steelworkers
And once it's installed I'll be stronger times ten
