

Democracy & the College Workplace: A Case Study

by
Alexandra Bradbury

Faculty Advisor:
Robin Wagner-Pacifici

Swarthmore College
May 16, 2005

Acknowledgements

Immense thanks to everyone from Pseudonym College who generously agreed to participate in interviews with me. Thank you also to the Pseudonym College Institutional Review Board; the kind stranger who helped me with Spanish translations of flyer and consent form; the good people in Pseudonym's Media Services department, who trusted me with a transcribing machine; everyone at the deli where so many of these interviews took place; and the wonderful roommate who took me in for a month.

At Swarthmore, I am deeply grateful to professors Robin Wagner-Pacifici, who served as my thesis advisor; Sarah Willie, who advised me early in the process and later served as my second reader; Ginny O'Connell, who advised me in developing my summer research plan; and Lee Smithey. Thank you all for your generous assistance and inspiring scholarship. Thanks also to Rose Maio, the Sociology & Anthropology Department generally, and the grantors of the Joel Dean Summer Research Grant for making this project possible. Special thanks to the Tri-College Library staff, especially Megan Adams and Mary Ann Wood. And profound thanks to all my good thesis buddies—Ivan Boothe, Sarah Kelly, Amanda Armstrong, Anand Vaidya, Sehnaz Kiymaz and the rest of the McCabe basement crew—as well as friends and roommates, especially Dann Naseemullah and Mariah Montgomery for support from afar—and always, always, my parents! And thanks to United Students Against Sweatshops and the Swarthmore Living Wage & Democracy Campaign, who inspired me to take on this project in the first place.

Contents

Chapter 1: Introduction.....	4
Research questions
Literature review
Methodology
Road map
A note on terminology
A note on confidentiality
Chapter 2: A Changing Institution.....	32
The college community: family, small town, school, and business
Corporatization: the bottom line is the bottom line
Chapter 3: A Shifting Hierarchy.....	55
Faculty versus staff
Administrators (and faculty) versus support staff
From administrative and support staff to exempt and non-exempt
The symbolic and the concrete
Three perspectives on the change in categories
Contracting out
Chapter 4: A Brief Interlude: Talking About Compensation.....	84
Chapter 5: The Pseudonym College Fair Labor Campaign.....	91
Chapter 6: A Voice in the Workplace.....	113
Being at the table
Feeling free to speak
Having your voice count
Chapter 7: Conclusion: Notes Towards a Role for Student Labor Activists .....	128
Works Cited.....	133
Appendix A – interview guides.....	136
Appendix B – flyers.....	140
Appendix C – consent forms.....	142